It could be a very dicey drive early tomorrow morning. 100% chance of snow forecast for Dimock.....

Hey Rich,

Spoke with the CICs and decided to keep our original travel plan to drive up early in the morning. The thinking is that they'll be better equipped to prep the ever-changing message documents/fact sheet from here. They are also recommending that we not start knocking on residents' doors until around 10 a.m. anyway---which I think is reasonable.

Obviously, this could all change but that's our plan at the moment. Also, Alex Mandell just told me that he's planning to go after all and so is Francisco so you'll have 4 teams again. I'll touch base with you during the day as I get more information.
